

Figure 4-54. Percent of left and right banks that are failing (left), and the relative fine-grained (silt plus clay) content in the streambanks (right) to be used collectively as a measure of fine-sediment contributions from eroding streambanks.