HAWKES SUPREME COURT DECISION

- Supreme Court –U.S. Army Corps of Engineers v. Hawkes Co., 136 S.Ct. 1807 (2016)
- Held: Corps' AJD is a final agency action judicially reviewable under the APA.
- Immediate Implications: AJDs may now be challenged in court without completing either the permit process or administrative appeal process.

REGULATORY GUIDANCE LETTER (RGL) 16-01

- October 2016
- RGL 16-01 explains differences between an approved JD and preliminary JD.
- Provides guidance on which JD, if any, is appropriate to issue.
- Both RGL 07-01 and 08-02 are superseded by this RGL.

US Army Corps
of Engineers[®]

WHAT DOES THE RGL NOT DO?

- Does not change or modify definitions of AJD and PJD included in Corps regulations.
- Does not change or modify when an AJD is required by the terms of its definition (e.g., only an AJD can be used to determine presence/absence of waters of the U.S.).
- Also does not address which aquatic resources are subject to CWA jurisdiction.

US Army Corps
of Engineers[®]

NO JD WHATSOEVER

- Corps generally does not issue a JD of any type where no JD has been requested.
- Certain circumstances where a JD would not be necessary (such as authorizations by non-reporting nationwide general permits).
- Certain circumstances, including where the Corps verifies general permits or standard permits, where jurisdictional questions may not arise.

US Army Corps
of Engineers[®]

APPROVED JDS

- Corps will issue an AJD upon receiving a request for a formal determination regarding the jurisdictional status of aquatic resources on a parcel
- Must have legal access to the property
- Approved JDs remain valid for a period of five years (see exceptions in RGL 05-02).
- Approved JDs can be administratively appealed (see 33 CFR Part 331).

PRELIMINARY JDS

- May be requested to move ahead expeditiously in permit process where requestor determines in best interest to do so, even where initial indications are that the aquatic resources on a parcel may not be jurisdictional.
- When used as basis for permit decision, for purposes of computation of impacts and compensatory mitigation requirements, all aquatic resources that would be affected by the permitted activity on the parcel will be treated as jurisdictional.

REQUEST FOR DELINEATION VERIFICATION OR JD

REQUEST FOR AQUATIC RESOURCES DELINEATION VERIFICATION

OR JURISDICTIONAL DETERMINATION

A separate jurisdictional determination (JD) is not necessary to process a permit. An Approved Jurisdictional Determination (AJD) is required to definitively determine the extent of waters of the U.S. and is generally used to disclaim jurisdiction over aquatic resources that are not waters of the U.S., in cases where the review area contains no aquatic resources, and in cases when the recipient wishes to challenge the water of the U.S. determination on appeal. Either an Aquatic Resources Delineation Verification or a Preliminary Jurisdictional Determination (PJD) may be used when the recipient wishes to assume that aquatic resources are waters of the U.S. for the purposes of permitting. In some circumstances an AJD may require more information, a greater level of effort, and more time to produce. If you are unsure which product to request, please speak with your project manager or call the Sacramento District's general information line at (916) 557-5259.
